2021-2022

- The improvement plan of the Department of plastic arts has been prepared for the next academic year, after completing the performance assessment of the department and identifying the strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats, according to the following points:
- *Increase cooperation with civil society organizations and various state institutions by the Department's teachers and students according to a pre-planned and deliberate plan designed to raise the level of constructive communication with them so that the plastic arts department is a real tributary of the visual community in general and seek its influence in it clearly.
- *The completion of various technical events by the teachers and students of the department and the involvement of those interested from outside the College in these activities in an attempt to convey the message of the department and achieve its goals concretely and touch the results of this In الواقع reality. Through a pre-prepared schedule that includes the entire academic year and takes into account the nature of society and the reality of the situation of students in a way that does not affect the course of educational movement in the Department.
- *Exchange of lecturers between the Department of plastic arts in our college and the corresponding departments in the Iraqi colleges and create a competitive climate that enhances the reality of curricula and means of delivering scientific and practical material to students.

- *Hosting teachers from neighboring disciplines in our college and other Iraqi colleges to give lectures related to the curricula of plastic arts in order to learn about various methods of teaching and to enhance the educational reality.
- *Continue to develop e-learning by specifying advance plans on an annual basis that are possible to be applied and in order to provide education in the department with an effective learning space in order to create cadres capable of digital achievement in the labor market when there is a need for this.
- *Direct research in primary and postgraduate studies directly towards the requirements of the diverse labor market and in such a way as to make it an actual application area of interest to all parties related to these completed studies.
- *Establishing a digital marketing window for scientific and practical specialized products in a way that accelerates the opportunity for their spread and then investment inside or even outside Iraq. This is done by reviewing the requirements to be met and preparing the teaching staff towards a qualitative achievement capable of actual competition. Increasing the number of middle cadres to provide an opportunity for higher documentation of all the requirements of the educational process and studying and analyzing the content to more accurately identify the failures and achievements in each educational attempt and annually, and to allow there is an evolutionary change from year to year.
- * Creating a virtual reality under the auspices of the department between students and teachers in a way that allows the presentation of ideas and the establishment of specialized dialogues that will promote the educational process. Activating the individual accounts of teachers and students and publishing their results in order to increase the space for permanent access to the content available in it and to ensure the existence of a continuously growing knowledge balance. The establishment of scientific and practical lectures for the teachers of the department among themselves to create a competitive space that helps in the development of individual abilities in knowledge and diction and in a way that makes the teaching process of continuous improvement. And make those lectures the touchstones of the annual performance evaluation.

- * Increasing the number of teachers in educational counseling and assigning specific tasks to each of them under the supervision and follow-up of the head of the department directly and assigning them to develop the students ' educational and behavioral reality according to the determinants set out in the Department's message and goals.
