Report of conformity with standards

The concept of quality assurance and academic accreditation carries within it main concepts, :which are

1- Standards
2- Evaluation and evaluation
3- Accreditation
This implicitly means the commitment of the educational institution, whether it is a university, college, or department, to provide academic and educational services with specific standards, through the use of evaluation and evaluation mechanisms, which may be internal or external, .to obtain the required accreditation

- Standards

means standards They are the necessary specifications for education that can be accepted to ensure its quality and increase its effectiveness and ability to compete, and as a reference standard that can be used for guidance when evaluating university performance :by comparing it with the desired standard levels. The standards are divided into two types The first type - Standard standards These are the foundations established by the Center for Quality Assurance and Accreditation of Educational Institutions. They represent the minimum standards that the institution must meet in its educational programs that it .implements
Type II - Approved standards : These are the foundations that the educational institution sets for itself and is approved by the Center for Quality Assurance and Accreditation of Educational Institutions, provided that they are not less than the level of standard standards

1- Evaluation and evaluation

The concepts of evaluation and evaluation lead us towards measuring the performance of .the educational institution or educational program
Definition of evaluation : The process of measuring the quality of performance in all activities .with the aim of continuous improvement of future performance
Definition of evaluation : It is a set of procedures and methods taken based on the results of the evaluation, ensuring the implementation of recognized standards It is necessary to achieve the targeted quality levels in the educational institution is an academic status granted to an educational institution or educational program in exchange for fulfillment of standards approved and announced by accrediting bodies, with the aim of improving and developing the educational institutions and programs provided, while keeping pace with the requirements of the labor market and development . That is, a set of procedures and operations carried out by the center in order to ensure that the institution has met the conditions of approved quality specifications and assurance, and that its programs comply with the approved and announced standards. The educational :institution is accredited based on two accreditations

Institutional Accreditation - It means ensuring that the institution has the ability and capabilities to implement its approved mission and objectives in accordance with specific .standards
Program Accreditation - Evaluating programs in an educational institution that has institutional accreditation, to ensure the quality of these programs and the extent to which they fulfill the requirements of the awarded certificate in accordance with the announced standards and controls, and to recognize that the educational program in them has achieved or reached .at least the minimum quality standards
The process of applying quality and accreditation in university education is based on six : foundations and pillars

1- .License application
2- .Initial institutional accreditation
3- .Initial program accreditation
4- .Final institutional accreditation
5- .Final program accreditation
6- .Quality assurance
The Department of Statistics seeks Towards obtaining final programmatic accreditation, it is only in order to obtain specialized international accreditation, since national accreditation (national classification) constitutes the key to obtaining international accreditation. Therefore, the question that arises now is: How can we obtain specialized international academic accreditation, and this ?prompts us to research as well? What is international academic accreditation International accreditation generally means the recognition and approval of an educational program. The evaluation process is carried out by a specialized international organization or body in accordance with specific and announced standards, and it acknowledges that the evaluated .program has achieved or reached the required level of the declared standards
The school or specialized association for the academic departments program of the College of Business and Economics to obtain international accreditation is the American Association of Colleges and Schools of Business(AACSB).
Association to advance collegiate schools of business
) The steps for obtaining international specialized professional accreditation are determined by AACSB.(
1- ) The institution that wants to obtain accreditation submits an application toAACSB .(
2- The institution to be accredited is required to submit the documents required for :accreditation Perhaps the most important of these documents are

1- A self-evaluation report that reviews the current status of the institution or program includes identifying strengths and weaknesses in the academic curriculum, administrative system, societal responsibility, and monitoring the academic and .research contributions of faculty members
2- The faculty, staff, students, and representatives of the labor market, whether from the .government or private sector, must be involved
3- Work to align its strategic objectives with the accreditation standards issued bythe AACSB program in obtaining accreditation
4- . Preparing the strategic plan
The AACSB standards are divided into four main pillars, each of which includes a number of :standards, as follows

.First focus : strategic management and innovation

1- Participation, influence, innovation
2- Intellectual contributions, impact, and alignment with mission
3- Financial strategies and resource allocation
Second focus: Participants - students, faculty, and technical staff
1- Student admissions, advancement and career development
2- Sufficiency and spread
3- College administration and support
4- Professional competence of employees and its dissemination
Third focus: teaching and learning
1- Curriculum management and learning assurance
2- Curriculum content
3- Student interactions in the program
4- Degree, educational level, structure, and equivalency
5- .Teaching effectiveness
.Fourth focus : academic and professional engagement
1- .Student academic and professional engagement
2- .Education on training
3- .Participation of faculty members and their academic qualifications

Conclusions

In general, it can be said that the issue of obtaining international specialized professional accreditation for the program of scientific departments of the College of Administration and Economics is not a difficult or impossible process to achieve. Rather, it requires the presence of a real will on the part of the program administration first, in addition to the presence of a strong and declared will on the part of the university presidency and the deanship. The college, and its adoption of the option of quality and international accreditation, also requires the presence of real support and assistance from the Ministry of Higher Education and Scientific Research through its endeavor to address the competent authorities regarding reconsidering some legislation and regulations that still obstruct the processes of building a work environment that contributes to the consolidation of leadership. And innovation, and finally, it also requires a mentality of determination, which means starting now, with .what is possible, but in a unique way

Developing students' cognitive and technical skills in statistical sciences in order to fill the .need in the labor market
Developing students' scientific attitudes in order to enable them to build themselves and develop their ability in graduate studies
Providing students with the necessary skills that enable them to achieve creativity in all fields, such as small and entrepreneurial projects
Giving students the ability to perform statistical analysis and build the economic feasibility of projects
Learning outcomes and methods of teaching, learning and evaluation -10
A- Knowledge and understanding
.A1- Defining the course and knowing its concept
A2- Interpreting the characteristics of the course
A3- Clarifying the content of the decision
A4-Clarifying the course's theories
A5-Explain practical examples about the course
B- Subject-specific skills
B1- Acquiring statistical analysis skills for all problems and in all fields
B2- Acquiring the skill by recognizing the nature of data, how to collect it, and how to draw conclusions from it
B3- Acquire the skill of dealing with various statistical programs
Teaching and learning methods
Theoretical lectures-
Daily exams-
Quarterly exams
the audience-
Evaluation methods
Objective questions consisting of true or false choices, as well as direct questions Tests include monthly tests and final semester exams-
C- Thinking skills
C1- Proposing new ideas about the topic by the student and teacher in order to develop thinking and hone skills
C2- Motivating the student and developing his ability to evaluate the topic and provide solutions
C3- Motivating the student to analyze and interpret the problem and phenomena Teaching and learning methods
Objective questions consisting of true or false choices, as well as direct questions -

- Tests include monthly tests and final semester exams

Evaluation methods
C1-Proposing new ideas about the topic by the student and teacher in order to develop thinking and hone skills
C2- Motivating the student and developing his ability to evaluate the topic and provide solutions
C3- Motivating the student to analyze and interpret the problem and phenomena
D- General and transferable skills (other skills related to employability and personal (development
D1- It requires mental skills
D2- High concentration in the substance

D3- Using mathematical and logical thought
Teaching and learning methods
Objective questions consisting of true or false choices, as well as direct questions -

- Tests include monthly tests and final semester exams

Evaluation methods

- C1-Proposing new ideas about the topic by the student and teacher in order to develop thinking and hone skills

Qualifications and skills of a graduate of the Department of Statistics: A graduate of the :Department of Statistics is granted the following skills
1- .Advanced skills in applied statistics, computing and mathematics
2- The skills and techniques required to solve business problems, process data and .information, and make decisions based on the digital data obtained
3- .Skills in searching for and collecting data through counting and inventorying
4- .Draw conclusions and conclusions and make appropriate decisions
5- .Prediction based on the results of statistical inference
6- Skills in using computers and preparing computer programs that enable statistical analysis .of data on various phenomena in practical life
: Fields of work for a graduate of the Department of Statistics
1- central Statistical Organization
2- Statistics and Planning Divisions in all public and private sector institutions
3- Banking and financial institutions sector
4- Insurance companies
5- Statistical analysis companies and offices
6- Computing companies
7- Telecommunications sector
8- Freelancing
