Accreditation and Students Complaints Implicating Compliance with the ABA Standards

The School of Law is a charter member of the Association of American Law Schools. Information on the AALS may be found at their web page <http://www.aals.org/>. The School of Law is fully accredited by the American Bar Association. Questions regarding ABA accreditation may be directed to the Office of the Consultant on Legal Education, American Bar Association, 321 N. Clark Street, 21st Floor, Chicago, IL 60654-7597, (312) 988-6738.

Student complaints implicating compliance with the standards imposed by the American Bar Association Section on Legal Education and Administration to the Bar shall be filed in writing with the Associate Dean for Academic Affairs, or if the complaint involves the person serving in that capacity, with the Dean of the Law School. The complaint shall include the date in which the complaint is being filed; the name and address of the complainant; and a description of the complaint. The description of the complaint shall include a description of the accreditation standard which the law school's action or inaction implicates. The Associate Dean for Academic Affairs (or the Dean of the Law School) will investigate the complaint and respond to the complainant in writing within 30 calendar days from receiving the complaint. The response will indicate whether the Law School has taken any corrective action, or if not, the reasons for not taking any action.

The complainant shall have the right to appeal this initial decision by filing an appeal with the Faculty Policy Committee. The appeal shall be filed in writing within 14 calendar days from the date in which the initial decision was issued. The appeal shall include the date in which the appeal is filed; the name and address of the complainant; a copy of the original complaint; a copy of the initial decision; and an explanation of the basis of the appeal. The Faculty Policy Committee will review the documents presented, and issue a decision in writing within 30 calendar days from receiving the appeal. The Faculty Policy Committee can sustain or reverse the initial decision. In cases where the initial decision is reversed, the Faculty Policy Committee will direct the Associate Dean for Academic Affairs on what corrective actions to take. The decision of the Faculty Policy Committee shall be considered final and subject to no further review.

1. Withdrawal within 5 business days from the end of drop/add, 25% of tuition is retained by the College of Law.
2. Withdrawal within 10 business days from the end of drop/add, 50% of tuition is retained by the College of Law.
3. Withdrawal within 15 business days from the end of drop/add, 75% of tuition is retained by the College of Law.
4. Withdrawal on or after 15 business days from the end of drop/add, 100% of tuition is retained by the College of Law.

For Intensive Trial Advocacy, all portions of the tuition for this special class are nonrefundable. For International Programs, contact International Programs for exact policy.

TRANSFER OF CREDIT POLICIES

Advanced Standing

To receive credit for work done at an ABA approved (or state accredited) law school, a transfer student must earn the greater of a C or minimum grade that school requires as its graduation average. The transfer of credit form will indicate how many additional credits and which courses are required for graduation. A transfer student must earn at least 60 credits at the College of Law. The Associate Dean cannot reduce the number of credits earned at the College of Law below 60.

Foreign Attorneys

Foreign Attorneys will receive credit for no more than 30 credits of prior coursework. The transfer of credit form will indicate how many additional credits (60 or more) and which courses are required for graduation. Foreign attorneys in their final year at the College of Law will retain second year preference status for second year preference and required courses but will otherwise be treated as third year full-time and fourth year part-time students.

Visiting at Other Law Schools

To receive credit for work done as a visiting (transient) student at an ABA approved law school, an NSU College of Law student must earn the greater of a C or the minimum grade that school requires as its graduation average. The transfer of credit form will indicate whether an NSU student will be permitted to use a course taken elsewhere in satisfaction of a course that is required by the College of Law (an option only for students with at least a 2.60 cumulative grade point average) or to satisfy a College of Law prerequisite. The transfer of credit form will also indicate if a course will be subject to the 14-credit limit on non-classroom courses. No credit will be given for credits earned at other law schools if those credits would result in the student earning less than 60 credits at NSU College of Law.

Joint Degree Students

Joint degree students may count up to eight (8) credits in the other program toward their law degree (instead of the normal limit of four (4)). The increased limit applies only if the student completes the other degree before (or in the same semester) as the law degree. The additional four (4) credits will not count as non-classroom credits but is included in the overall 30 credit limit on courses taken other than at NSU College of Law.
